THE TRI-WEEKLY YEOMAN.

Teaching a Horse to Stop.

When I get a new horse, and that is not very often, I make it my first business to teach that horse to stop suddenly, when I first say "whoa," by gently jerking on the lines, the horse soon begins to understand you. He should be first taught to stop while walking; then stopped on a gentle trot, and finally when driven rapidly. It is not a moment in the world that cannot be taught in a day's time to stop by a short sharp "whoa," without drawing on the lines. And they should learn to do this, just as quick as they can. Presently, no matter how badly frightened the horse is, he will stop when he hears the word. Many horses become unmanageable when they get their tails over their heads, so if anything touches their heels, away they go. To a horse properly taught, the word of the driver should be as potent as the stoutest lines.

Let me illustrate the value of my suggestions, by relating what I have saved in this way: Not long since, I purchased a spirited young horse, and the first lesson I gave him was to stop when I spoke to him. Soon after, I hitched him to the buggy, and got into it with all my family. I dare not say how many of us there were, lest some of your readers should envy me. Enough, that with what I had at my side, and on my lap, I could scarcely see the horse.

An unlucky whist of the horse's tail brought the line under it, and quicker than I can tell you, the horse made two sudden bounds, and would have run away, but my timely "whoa" brought everything up standing; and I found the line as fast under the tail as though it were a vice. The united strength of my whole family could hardly have pulled it out. After standing a moment it came out itself. Then the whole family breathed easier, and the reporters of the daily press lost a good item.

One day my horse and buggy were standing in front of my office, and a headless expressman drove up with a top wagon, and fairly ran on my establishment. The fluttering of the expressman's curtains, and the rattling of his rickety wagon, frightened my horse so badly that he flew back, tore the bits out of his mouth, broke his hitching strap, and started on to run.

Looking out of the window, I saw, with the most indignant eyes, the whole transaction. I sprang to the door and spoke a loud sharp "whoa," and although I was some five or six rods from the horse, he stopped as though he had met a stone wall in his road. I breathed easier again, for I had saved fifty dollars of seventy-five, the amount of the threatened smash-up.

Another day, my horse standing hitched and kicking, got his feet entangled and fell down. While struggling to rise, the rump strap broke, and feeling himself loose, he sprang to his feet and started on a lively run, with the buggy in the rear. An old farmer gentleman just passing instinctively cried out "whoa." "My gracious, mister," said he, "I never saw the like of that, where if I had let the horse stop over the head with a top wagon, he wouldn't have stopped any quicker. Fincher, well broken; been one of my horses, sir, your wife would have had plenty of kindling wood. Never stopped a horse that way before."

CURE FOR NERVOUS HEADACHE.—A well known Kentucky minister, subject to severe spells of nervous headache, was in our office to-day, says an exchange, during one of those attacks. Major Brown, of Mexico, was present, and proposed to relieve him in five minutes, which he did most effectively. The following is the prescription: Take a desert spoonful of common salt, such as is used in making bread, and dissolve it thoroughly in a quart of cold water. With this thoroughly shampoo the head for about five minutes, scratching the skin of the head and the back of the neck well with the finger-nails. Then rinse the head with clean cold water. Major Brown says that he has used this remedy in perhaps a thousand cases since 1853, and never once failed to give relief in five or ten minutes. This remedy is for nervous headache, and is not for those afflictions of the head arising from deranged stomachs.

UNCOOKED BONE.—Some time ago, we saw the use of bones recommended, and a rich growth promised to all who would take precaution to place a piece of bone in the bottom of each pot, when transplanting flowers. Always anxious to adopt every device to promote the well-being of our floral favorites, we determined to try the bone experiment. Knowing that bone-dust is one of the best fertilizers for Fuchsias, when used in moderation, we included several Fuchsias in our experiment. The plants were carefully potted, a piece of bone being placed over the drain. In a short time, the plants began to sicken, and the leaves of several fine roses, geraniums, etc., were saved by transferring them to other pots. Instead of finding the blight roots twining themselves about the bone, as we were told they would do, they were brown and discolored and shrinking away as fast as possible, with the plant's fine instinct that there was literally "death in the pot."—Kentucky People.

SOUP.—All soups are better to be made with fresh uncooked meat, as that which has been cooked once has lost much of its flavor and nearly all of its juices. It is therefore better economy to soup or slice your cold meat, and buy fresh for soup. Soup should not boil very hard, as that has a tendency to toughen the meat. Fat meat is not so proper nor healthy for soup as the leaner parts of the finest meat. The fat does not impart much flavor, and is not palatable. Soup may be kept till the next day; before it is heated over again skin of the cake of fat which congeals on the top.

WHEN COLOR ON A FABRIC HAS BEEN ACCIDENTALLY OR OTHERWISE DESTROYED BY ACID, AMMONIA IS APPLIED TO NEUTRALIZE THE SAME, AFTER WHICH AN APPLICATION OF CHLOROFORM WILL, IN ALMOST ALL CASES, RESTORE THE ORIGINAL COLOR. The application of ammonia is common, but that of chloroform is but little known. Chloroform will also remove paint from a garment or elsewhere, when benzole, or bisulphide, or carbon fails.

FOR RED ANTS.—John H. Ferguson, of Rensselaer county, N. Y., writes, that he has thoroughly cleared an old house of this pest within the past fifteen years, thus: "Grease a plate with hog's lard, and set it where the ants are troublesome; they will desert the sugar-bowl for the lard. Place a few sticks under the plate for the ants to climb up on. Occasionally turn the plate bottom up over a fire, where there is no smoke, and the ants will drop off into the fire. Repeat the plate and in a few repetitions you will catch all the ants. They trouble nothing while lard is accessible."

LONG WICKS.—Cram all the wick you can into the lamp, fill up the interstices with sponge, and saturate the whole with kerosene. The supply is sufficient for the longest winter night; as long as any oil remains in the wick the lamp keeps burning. This has been fairly tested. As the wick burns away keep filling up with sponge, and you have the nearest approach to a safety lamp.

RIVER SAND.—Many of our ladies find it inconvenient to procure fine sand for use in potting flowers, raising slips, etc. We have found the coarse sand that washes down from the turpentine to answer every purpose. Indeed, we have tried both, and find that plants potted with the coarse sand are in much better condition than those in soil mixed with fine sand from the river.—Kentucky People.

CHOPPED PICKLES.—One gallon green tomatoes chopped fine, four green peppers, three onions, handful of salt sprinkled over them; let them stand six hours, drain off the liquid and add one tablespoonful ground pepper, one of allspice, one of mustard, one half pint of mustard seed, three points of vinegar.

AND EXTENSIVE AND VARIOUS
PERSONAL PROPERTY.

HEALTH REQUIRING ME TO WINTER
in Florida, I will sell the Farm on which I reside, containing over seven hundred and eighty acres, situate in Franklin and Woodford counties, Ky., five miles from Frankfort, on the Railroad to Lexington, and the Turnpike to Versailles, and I can confidently say there is no better farm in Kentucky, all things considered.

The Location is beautiful, convenient, and healthy.
The Buildings are elegant, spacious, substantial, and for all appropriate purposes. The Farm being supplied with three other farms for sale in this and suitable buildings, besides the principal residence.
The Soil was naturally good, and has been kept in a high state of fertility, and is now ready to yield the heaviest crops of hemp, grain, and grasses.
The Water is of all kinds, abundant, and convenient for domestic, stock, and ornamental uses.

The Fencing is of durable materials of various kinds, in good condition, with timber ample for future supply.
School is excellent; and religious, educational, and social conveniences abundant and varied.
A Division of the Farm into four parts can be had in a moment, so that each will have its appropriate dwelling and other buildings, and I will sell separately that part on the north side of the railroad, having superior soil, water, timber, road, and two sets of buildings, all in good condition.

The Terms will be made easy, after a cash payment of one-half of the purchase money at the time of giving possession in October next. Purchasers are to be allowed to inspect the premises in person, or apply by mail for full description.
An Auction Sale will be held on the premises on the 5th of September next, consisting of Durham Cattle, Improved Kentucky Sheep, Cashmere Goats, Fattening Hogs, Farm and Saddle Horses, Crops on hand, and Implements of all kinds, which will be duly advertised.
